LADIES' COLUMN.

DUTIES OF THE WAITRESS.

Although every housekeeper may have some methods peculiarly her own in the matter of waiting upon tables, still there are some customs that are almost universal in refined households.

If the water has not already been poured, the waitress pours it as soon as the guests sit down at the table. If there be raw oysters, they should be served first. Usually they are arranged on the plates, and placed at each person's seat before the guests come in.

When the oyster plates have been removed, the soup tureen and hot soup plates are placed before the hostess. The waitress lifts the cover off the tureen, inverting it at once, that no drops of steam shall fall from it, and carries it from the room. The hostess puts a ladleful of soup into each plate and hands it to the waitress, who places it before the guests, going in every case to the left-hand side. Some hostesses always serve the ladies first, while others serve the guests in rotation.

The meat is set before the host, the vegetables being placed before the hostess or on the sideboard, as one chooses. The waitress passes each plate as the host hands it to her. She then passes vegetables, bread, sauce, etc.

The salad is to be served by the hostess. After that the table is brushed and the dessert brought in and placed before the hostess. The coffee follows. If fruit be served it is passed before the coffee.

Finger bowls are brought in after the made dessert has been served. A dainty doily is spread on a dessert plate and the finger bowl placed on this. The bowl should be about one-quarter full of water. Each guest lifts the bowl and doily from the plate and places them at the left-hand side. The doily is never to be used to wipe the fingers.

A good waitress will not pile one dish upon another when removing them from the table. She should be provided with a tray for all the smaller dishes, and should remove the plates one or two at a time.

I had catarrh of the head and throat for five years. I used Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The sense of smell, which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle. I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh, and it has effected a cure in my case.—H. L. Mayer, Waverly, N. Y.

There is no more acute pain of childhood than earache. This seems to be caused by the sensitiveness to cold air of the tender membranes within the ear, and may be stopped by filling the ear with a little cotton dipped in sweet oil and warmed. If this does not give relief a few drops of laudanum, warmed by setting the bottle in hot water, may be added to the oil. A roasted onion is a favorite remedy with an old woman. If it is applied to the ear as hot as it can be borne, it will cure the most obstinate case, and certainly is harmless.

When cotton has been put into the ear and has served its purpose, it should be carefully removed and no bits be left behind to work into the passage. Deafness is frequently caused by the presence of some such foreign body in the ear.

Livery stable keepers should always keep Arnica & Oil Liniment in the stable, nothing like it for horses.

A pound of white castile soap melted up with a little water, scented delicately, and then stirred together with a cupful of oatmeal over the fire, is said to be wonderfully softening and whitening for the hands. It is to be used instead of soap.

For a mild cathartic and efficient tonic, use Baxter's Mandrake Bitters. Every bottle warranted.

Skirts made all in one piece have the width of the goods used for the length of the skirt. Patterns can be gotten that have the back and allow either for pleats in the back or not.

Mr J. A. Lander, a prominent citizen of Clarksburg, Mo., and widely known in that state, says of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy: "I have seen its good results and can recommend it." For sale by H. C. Pierce, Druggist.

DOMESTIC RECIPES.

A QUICK LAYER CAKE.—Two eggs, one cup of sugar, two heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder, a scant cup of milk, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Put all of the ingredients into a mixing dish and beat vigorously together for five minutes. Bake in four thin sheets. For a raisin filled beat the whites of two eggs until stiff with four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, then add a cup of seedless raisins chopped fine.

MURDERED.—The body of Julius Bear was found by freighters five miles west of here Tuesday morn, in a terribly mangled condition. His head and face were smashed, so as to be hardly recognized, and numerous wounds were found on his body. Mr. Baer was agent for the great blood medicine, Sulphur Bitters. Robbery was undoubtedly the motive, as he was well known to have a large sum of money on his person. As we go to press there is no clew to the perpetrators.—Colorado Press.

A tribal law in Mashena, central Africa, decrees the death by drowning of twin babies immediately after they are born.

For Insomnia and Palsy.

Sufferers from nervous maladies have perhaps in store for them a method of alleviating their discomfort not dissimilar to the musical system of soothing the sick which Canon Harford has been trying to introduce. It is in the department of "vibratory medicine" that the celebrated French doctor, M. Charcot, has hit upon his latest idea.

Having noticed that patients affected by a certain form of paralysis, "shaking palsy," appeared to derive great benefit from long journeys by rail, M. Charcot has caused to be constructed a sort of armchair, which by an ingenious arrangement produces vibrations resembling those of a train in motion. Placed in these "fauteuils trepidants," the subjects of M. Charcot's experiments gradually lose the chief symptoms of their disorder, and finally fall into a calm and refreshing sleep.

A compatriot of M. Charcot—M. Gilles de la Tourette—has, working on the same lines, contrived a "vibrating cap" for the transmission to the head of localized vibrations. After wearing this novel article of attire for about seven or eight minutes a man in good health is made quite sleepy by the soft buzzing of the cap, while in cases of insomnia, bad headache and so on unquestionable relief is produced by its application. Each of these two clever inventions should be of service in this age of "nerves" and over-pressure.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The American's Toast.

Benjamin Franklin was dining with a small party of gentlemen when one of them said:

"Here are three nationalities represented. I am French, my friend here is English and Mr. Franklin is American. Let each propose a toast."

The Englishman rose and in the tone of a Briton bold said, "Here's to Great Britain, the sun that gives light to the nations of the earth."

The Frenchman was rather taken back at this, but he proposed, "Here's to France, the moon whose magic rays move the tides of the world."

Franklin then rose and with an air of quaint modesty said, "Here's to George Washington, the Joshua of America, who commanded the sun and the moon to stand still—and they stood still."—Spare Moments.

What the Photo-Chromosome Is.

The photo-chromosome is a compact and simple apparatus for transforming photographs made transparent into realistic pictures. These are rendered perfect in detail, in perspective, in light and shade and in perfect tints and susceptible of a variety of natural and pleasing changes of effects, giving to the photograph a life and reality that have not hitherto been attainable. The photo-chromosome will furnish artists and students with a valuable aid to not only copying photographs on any enlarged scale, but studying the various combinations of light, shade and color.

Taking Along Everything.

A Saco barber, going out to shave an invalid, placed his various implements in his little grip and then looked around to see if he had missed anything. "Let's see," he said, "there is the razor, strap, soap, brush, towels, comb, pomade, magnesia—confound it, I've forgot something—oh, yes, the alum. I might happen to bleed him," and he smiled as he threw the alum in with the rest and went off prepared for any accident.—Bangor Commercial.

Not for Girls.

Little Dot—I wish you'd let me ride your bicycle.

Little Dick—These big wheel bicycles won't do for girls.

"Why won't they?"

"Cause every time you'd fall off an get most killed, you'd cry."—Good News.

Short and sweet

—your hours of labor when you use Pearline. Without Pearline, you may work hard and do much; with Pearline you will work less and do more.

Pearline saves your clothes in the wash, and your temper in the washing. It is the continual rub, rub, rubbing, over a washboard in the old way with soap, that wears your clothes and makes hard work.

Pearline is the new way, and does away with the rubbing. It is as safe as it is sure; be sure to get Pearline—nothing else, and you will be safe.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you some of the best thing—send it back. 242 JAMES PYLE, New York.

GRODER'S SYRUP

Mr. Fred Pooler, of Waterville, Me., a leading Grocer and Real Estate

Dealer, for many years Town Selectman and City Alderman, says:—

I cannot call myself a chronic dyspeptic,

although I am often troubled with distress

after eating, and at times, Heartburn and

Sour Stomach, also Headache and Constipation.

I must say that I never use Groder's

Botanic Dyspepsia Syrup without receiving almost instant relief. I keep in my house as a household remedy. My wife thinks that she cannot live without it. I have given it to my children with very satisfactory results for the last few years. Have sold different patent medicines in my store,

but Groder's Syrup seems to be the leading seller, and everybody praises it in the highest terms.

I recommend it as a household remedy

for old and young; if you are far superior to your friends, you will never be without it.

Yours respectfully,

FRED POOLER, Waterville, Maine.
